Hello Dan,

The first portion of the response pertains to your October 2, 2023 enquiry, regarding the publication of Notices of intent and reports that were previously provided.

With regard to your request on geoengineering, I would like to reiterate that Environment and Climate Change Canada (ECCC) continues to track and monitor developments on this emerging topic. At this time, geoengineering concepts, or potential technologies, are still in the early stages of development, with significant further study and consideration still needed.

Regards,
